February 1—Dave Horsager, MA, CSP

After directing an organization in Arkansas in his twenties, Dave Horsager moved back to Minnesota and started his first company. It went so well that within 4 months he and his wife were living in a musty basement apartment with $1.40 to their name.

Since then, Dave has grown two companies and has taken the platform on four continents. He is a producer, professor, award-winning speaker and business strategist that researches and speaks on the bottom-line impact of trust.

MEETING NOTES Jan 25 by Phil Gelbach

Art Anderson called the meeting to order at 12:30 p.m.

Thanks to Murray Harpole who delivered the invocation.

David Kray introduced Madeline Wilsey, a Girl Scout and guest of Olivia Wilsey. Madeline, who is a second grader, told us about her troop's project to send Girl Scout Cookies to soldiers away from home and asked for donations to support the project. She noted that 100 percent of contributions will go toward purchasing cookies.

Following Madeline, David Kray, a senior construction project manager for Kraus-Anderson gave a brief classification talk.

Special Announcements

Art Anderson noted that ShelterBox, one of our club's key charities, is responding right now to the need for shelter and supplies in Haiti. ### Featured Speaker

"In times of change, learners inherit the earth, while the learned find themselves beautifully equipped to deal with a world that no longer exists." (Eric Hoffer)

Loren Swanson introduced the program speaker, Dr. John Moravec.

Dr. Moravec is a faculty member in the Department of Organizational Leadership, Policy, and Development in the College of Education at the University of Minnesota. His work explores the challenges we face in human capital development as new technology and the Internet drive society toward an increasingly complex and ambiguous future.

He points out that technological change drives societal change, and its impact on society is accelerating exponentially. Markets for- and sources of- ideas, talent, products and capital have gone global. In this new era named Society 3.0 by Dr. Moravec, the drivers will be: accelerating change, continuing globalization and the emergence of an innovation society fueled by "Knowmads". Knowmads are people who are technologically adept, willing to collaborate, work collectively and who are not tied to any particular location in the world.

Our schools, universities, and other institutions are not currently equipped to train people for this new environment.

Society 3.0 must drive Education 3.0.

In order for people to compete in the new highly globalized, knowledge - and innovation-based society, the way we educate our children must change. Where today, technology is limited in schools or cautiously adopted, in the Education 3.0 world it will be everywhere. Teaching will no longer be limited to teacher-to-student but include student-to-student and student-to-teacher as well as from technology-to-people. Schools will no longer be in dedicated buildings or online, but everywhere, thoroughly infused in society: in cafes, bars, bowling alleys, at work, on our phones, on television and in our imaginations.

The new model school will develop knowledge-producing kids who will share, remix and capitalize on new ideas. They will embrace accelerating change.

THANKS FROM STEPHANIE HADDAD

Dear Roseville Rotary,

It is only 3 days until I depart to India! I am very excited . . . I've been anticipating the trip for months now and am ready to get on the plane. I've also managed to fit all of my stuff in a small travel suitcase that fits overhead. So, I'm packing light! I wanted to thank you once again for sponsoring me. I look forward to the experience and to telling you all about it when I return!

Sincerely, Stephanie Haddad

January is Rotary Awareness Month

Houston Rotarians in Haiti . . . (from Rotary International News)

As president of the Rotary Club of Houston, it had been Michelle Bohreer's dream to travel to Haiti and conduct a service project to improve the lives of children there.

On 12 January, 45 minutes into a weeklong trip to Port-au-Prince to do just that, the dream quickly spiraled into a nightmare.

Bohreer and a team of five Rotarians from Houston were heading into Haiti's capital city to implement a water project for an orphanage when a powerful earthquake rocked the area, causing widespread devastation.

"Minutes after the quake happened, thousands of people poured out into the street running and screaming. Hundreds were walking around bleeding," says Bohreer. "It was moments like that when the absolute catastrophe hit you."

The quake, the worst in the region in more than 200 years, flattened much of the capital, killing as many as 200,000 and leaving millions more injured. A massive international relief operation is underway to bring food, water, and medicine to those who need it.

"I was overwhelmed by sights, sounds, and smells that I will never forget," says team member Vicki Brentin, past president of the Houston club. "I held tight to the hands of frightened, injured children and looked deep into the eyes of their mothers or fathers begging for help. That left a compelling and lasting impression on me."

Unable to leave the country, the team members spent four days in Port-au-Prince trying to help in any way they could. They found a collapsed hospital, sifted through the wreckage, and found Tylenol and antibiotic ointment to distribute to injured people.

"The injuries were too severe for the medicine we had, but receiving care of any kind during that time gave them hope. It gave us hope," says Bohreer. "I've never been so proud to be a Rotarian."

On 15 January, she and her team were able to board a charter flight to the Dominican Republic and, from there, back to Houston, where they arrived safely the next day.

Brentin said the team drew strength from the Haitian people who they encountered. "I was so moved by the amazing spirit of the Haitian people who, in the face of their own tragedy, pain and suffering, reached out to us with such kindness and concern for our well being."

Bohreer says her club will be back to help the country rebuild.

"We as Rotary have an obligation to take care of people who are suffering under such difficult conditions," she said.

From safety into catastrophe

A day after the earthquake, Caleb Lucien, a member of the Rotary Club of Pignon, and nine other Haitians traveled 85 miles south from Pignon to Port-au-Prince to assess the damage and help victims.

"The city is completely destroyed," says Lucien, Health and Hunger Resource Group coordinator for District 7020 in the Caribbean. "We drove past hundreds and hundreds of dead bodies. The loss of life is beyond belief."

Lucien spent US$3,500 of his own money on water and food to distribute to victims. He also searched for Rotarians who he knew lived in affected areas and helped evacuate more than 120 injured people to Pignon.

"It was not a time to feel or think about the devastation. It was a time to act," he says. "I grieve, but I have to move forward and focus on getting Rotarians to help in the recovery."

He is working closely to bring relief supplies to affected areas with District 7020's Haiti Task Force, established two years ago to administer financial aid to the nation.

"The immediate need for the next two to six months is shelter, food, and clean water," says Lucien. "In the long term, I hope to see Rotary help with rebuilding infrastructure such as schools, hospitals, and churches."
